After a demand by General Beauregard for the surrender of Fort Sumter, Friday at noon, and refused by Major Anderson, an attack was made by the Confederate Army. Major Anderson replied by firing upon Ft. Moultrie and Morris Island.

A brisk cannonade was kept up on both sides, on that afternoon and evening.

The ultimatum of a seige or surrender has not yet been sent to Major Anderson; but with the supplies to-day he was notified by Gen. Beauregard that they were the last he would receive, which is equivalent to a declaration of hostilities. This is positive.

Another dispatch to the Herald of the 6th, says that an officer of the army stated on that day, that the first collision would probably occur in Charleston harbor. He says that the Government, having decided to evacuate Sumter, they were about to send an order how it should be done; but Gen. Beauregard refused to accept the plan of evacuation. Revolution in the United States.

Our advices by the Cortes bring the gloomy intelligence that civil war has commenced in the United States. So gradually has the "irrepressible conflict" been approaching that no one who has watched narrowly the current of events, is astonished at Sumpter-howmuch-soever he may deplore the calamity. To commit the Cotton States by a collision with the Federal Government has been the policy of South Carolina ever since the passage of her Secession Ordin-In that she has succeeded; and within eighty-six years-all but five daysafter Major Pitcairn inaugurated at Lexington the first American revolution which terminated so gloriously for the revolted colonies, Gen. Beauregard at the head of the Confederate army inaugurates the second revolution of the United States of America by an attack on Sumpter. Where secession or civil war will end it is impossible to foresec. Whether it will be successful or be suppressed, no one can foretell. So far, however, as the signs on the surface of American affairs indicate the future, a long and bloody internecine war is in store for the model republic.

The revolt of the Cotton States has so far been successful; and it is clear that they have no idea of returning to the Union, if they can avoid it. On the other hand, the Federal Government cannot declare war against the States, and has no other course open, except to use coercion to hold and preserve the forts, arsenals, and dockyards in the Cotton States. The Constitution never contemplated nor made provision for NEW BILLIARD SALOON! civil war; therefore coercion by the Federalists must be defensive and not offensive. The collection of the revenue in the Southern ports, which Mr. Lincoln in his inauguecessionists will not thow maile conthe shore; and any seizures made from on ship. board have to be adjudicated under the Law of 1797, in the nearest judicial district. But as none but revolutionary courts will be allowed in Southern ports, the collection of the revenue is impossible. In this state of things all Mr. Lincoln cau do is to act on the defensive. He has called for 75,000 volunteers; and the response from the East, North, and West is as patriotic as he could wish. The National emergency is so great, however, that an extra session of Congress is called on the fourth of July, a day ever memorable in American history. Between now and then it is not unlikely that collisions entailing tar greater loss of life than the capture of Sumpter will occur, but which will only tend to embitter sectional feeling, and render an amicable adjustment of affairs the more difficult. Fort Pickens is already in a state of siege, and may possibly be the next point attacked by the Confederate forces. Washington is also threatened. Texas is in a most distracted condition. Gov. Houston,-who refused to swear allegiance to the Confederacy, raises the Lone Star flag under which he defied Mexico and secured the recognition of Texan independence,-now places himself at the head of a party opposed to Secession and the Federal Union. Thus secession begets and weakens secession, and complicates Southern difficulties still more. Virginia, on the other hand, where it was hoped a Union sentiment would prevail, asks, through her Convertion, for the recognition of the Southern Confederacy. As a leading Border State it is significant as to her ultimate intention, ble term and as to what may be expected of other Border States. The present attitude of Virginia is, therefore, very similar to what it was in the first revolution. She declared herself loyal in 1775, and then suddenly joined the Continentals. She has all along been for the Union; but is now for recognizing secession.

In both North and South the surrender of Sumpter caused an immense sensation. Everywhere preparations are made for war, Party feeling is giving way to the impending danger. A strong Union party is gradually raising its head. Pennsylvania and Ohio are the standard-bearers of coercion; and vote by built and not by ballot appears to be the only mode of preserving the There are however commercial Union. considerations that cannot but make themselves felt soon, both North and South, and may materially influence the national coun-The Northeastern States are the seats of commerce, manufactures, and navigation. Involve the country in civil war and it will prostrate trade. Blockade Southern ports and the want of cotton will alike affect the manufacturers of New England,

THE BRITISH COLONIST of New York for Southern cotton sold in Europe. Commerce and manufactures will thus suffer, and New England will be attacked in her most vulnerable point. So soon as the first excitement of civil war passes away, and the pressure on trade is felt, it is not then improbable that New England will be as much opposed to coereing the South, as she was to the war with England in 1812. The interests then of the Northeast may be influenced favorably for Secession. Consequently the success of the Federal Government in suppressing the revolt may ultimately depend on the North-Western States. If they fail in support, the Secessionists will end the revolution triumphantly.

CHURCH RESERVE CASE.—This interesting case will come up for trial to-day. It is simply, as we understand it, a suit brought by Bishop DeMers for a right of way into the cemetery. After the Rev. Mr. Staines left here, and before the Rev. Mr. Cridge arrived, Bishop DeMers had a portion of the cemetery fenced. Subsequently the Government inclosed the whole at Colonial expense. Since, Bishop DeMers has always had access through the southern gate. The erection of Bishop Hills' house and enclosure of his garden has stopped access that way; so the suit is now brought to recover the right of way. The trial will decide some interesting points about the occupation of the Church Reserve.

VICTORIA JOCKEY CLUB .- We beg to call the attention of our readers to the programme issued by the Jockey Club in our advertising columns. The Club formed recently cannot fail to succeed in its object when we see such names on the list of stewards. Horse-racing is one of the noblest pastimes in the world, and both in England and America much attention is paid to the breeding of race-horses One of the objects of this Club, we are told, is to endeawor to improve the breed of our Island horses; and such will doubtless be the case, because where there is competition for prizes people will endeavor to win, and from year to year will give such attention and consideration to the matter that in a short time we may see a great difference in the size and quality of our horses. We trust the public will assist the stewards in their endeavors to amuse, by liberal subscriptions. It is the intention of the stewards to rail the Course and erect a grand stand for ladies. From the exertions now being made by the the Jockey Club, we believe the Queen's birthday will be kept in a style never seen before on the Pacific Coast.

Tue Gold Watch .- Messrs. Levy and Marks appeared in the Police Court yesterday morning, pursuant to adjournment. Mr. Pearkes, on behalf of Mr. Levy, stated that the officers had not been able as yet to find the whereabouts of the person who took the watch from the watchmaker's and afterwards pledged it with Levy, and asked that the watch be retained by the Chief of Police and the matter further remanded for one month. The application was granted.

WANT OF PUNCTUALITY .- Several persons complain to us that yesterday, when the justices of the perty sessions should have met at 11 o'clock, they did not assemble till a quarter to one. As it was steamer-day, this want of punctuality placed parties forced to be in attendance to a great inconvenience. The judiciary, it seems to us, should have some regard for the public, and at least make an effort to be present at the

SAILED AND UP .- The barkentine W. B. Scranton sailed from San Francisco on the 24th, and the bark E. A. Rawlings on the 24th ult., for this port. The bark W. D. Rice and Naramassie were up for this port on the 25th, the latter to sail in about eight days. The Adelaide Cooper has been chartered to take a cargo of goods to New Westminster, intended for Wright & Nelson of HANDYWOOD .- This half-breed, arrested for breaking an Indian's head with stones, nearly four weeks ago, was up for examination before Mr. Pemberton yesterday. The squaw who struck the Indian over the head with a bottle, was also in the dock. The victim appeared in court but was unable to articulate, and seems to have entirely lost his reason. The accused were fully committed for trial.

FROM ROCK CREEK AND SIMILKAMEEN .-We are informed by Mr. W. T. Ballou that the water of Similkameen River and Rock Creek has risen so high lately as to drive most of the miners out. Only those on the Blackfoot Flat are left. Marshall's ditch is completed. Some twenty or thirty miners have come through from Similka meen to Rock Creek.

GOING TO BUILD A NEW BOAT .- The stockholders of the Yale Steam Navigation Company are not a whit discouraged at the loss of their splendid steamboat a short time since, for they have ordered a new one to be constructed. A director of the company, charged to look after the matter, arrived on the Otter Wednesday night.

THE "TRUE BRITON."-This bark, bound for this place from London, and put into Falkland Islands for repairs, will, it is said in a letter received from San Francisco yesterday, continue the voyage. She is looked for in San Francisco the latter part of this month.

NEW SHIP-YARD .- The space between the encampment at the Songish village, where the steamer Cariboo was built, has been leased from the Government and will nereafter be used for the purposes of a shipyard. The lessors are Messrs. Scorgie &

Bolton. Ballou's Express is now making regular weekly trips between Victoria and Cayeosh.

Card from James E. Wolfe.

EDITOR BRITISH COLONIST:-In my remarks at Beacon Hill yesterday I stated that "the £150 at Beacon Hill yesterday I stated that "the £150 appropriated by the House of Assembly for the benefit of the Fire Department had not been paid over to the companies, nor any part thereof." From information received to-day from the proper source I deem it due to His Excellency and the officials to state that the cause of the delay is not not he part of the Government, but lies solely in the fact that the application has not been made in due form, so as to comply with the Rules of Business adopted in the Government. I am assured that as soon as the application is made in proper form the amount will be paid over to the Department. As our worthy Chief Engineer now understands the matter, the appropriation will undoubtedly be in the possession of the Department in a few days.

and Nagle.

Mr. Pearkes, on behalf of Mr. John T. Howard, made application to have his present licence to sell spirits, ale, wine and porter by retail in a certain wooden building on Wharf street, in the Town of Esquimals, transferred to the building next adjoining the same.

Mr. John D. Carroll opposed the appli cation on the ground that his building had been licensed and it would be unjust to tranfer it. The Justices decided to grant a licence to Mr. Howard for the new building.

Mr. Rothwell applied for a licence to sell spirits, ale, wine, and porter on the Esqui-malt road. Granted.

THE MISSING LIEUTENANT .- Lieutenant Byam, of H. M. S. Bacchante, who has been missing from his mess for nearly a month, has not yet turned up. He is now supposed to to have gone to San Francisco on the previous trip of the Cortes; and from thence will proceed to Valparaiso.

THE "CORTES."-This steamer went to sea yesterday afternoon shortly after four o'c'ock. She had 15 passengers. Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped by her $38,193 in gold dust and bars.

The Cortes yesterday brought 48 passengers from San Francisco.

COMMERCIAL

THURSDAY EVENING, May 2d, 1861.

Owing to the arrival of the Cortes yesterday morning but little trade was transacted, the mer-chants generally being kept busy in attending to the usual duties devolving upon them on steamer days. The Cortes carried down over $38,000 in dust and bars.

The arrival of the Otter last evening with fully $30,000 in dust and heavy orders from the river, indicate that that stemmer will take forward a good indicate that that steamer will take forward a good reight to-morrow evening.

Our latest advices from below state that the barks W. B. Scranton and E. A. Rawlings have sailed, and the barks W. D. Rice and Narramisic were up for this port.

The amount of gold dust received this week from British Columbia, as near as can be ascertained, is over $50,000—a very gratifying improvement.
